Dear Colleagues and Friends,

It is a great pleasure to welcome you all to this congress in Stockholm – the XIIIth European Congress of Work and Organizational Psychology! Many of your colleagues in Sweden have made a great effort to provide the best possible conditions for this special event.

We have received over a thousand abstracts from scientists representing 46 countries and all continents. The Program Committee has worked with great dedication and we are very pleased to present a rich and exciting scientific program. It covers issues such as sustainable organizations and work practices, human resources management and leadership, employment relations and worker mobility, job stress and well-being, motivation and work attitudes, teams and workgroup processes, and the intersection between work and family domains.

The congress delegates include well-known, prominent scientists as well as young researchers who are participating in a scientific congress for the first time. We are convinced that the congress will be an important forum for the expression of new ideas, both theoretical and methodological, without disregarding the contribution of previous research. The subjects highlighted at the congress reflect emerging as well as well-established topics and should inspire a productive dialogue between the representatives of the old and the new.

The theme of the congress is Sustainable Work: Promoting Human and Organizational Vitality. In a time of intensification of work and an increasing rate of structural and organizational change, we need to draw attention to the fundamental contributions that human resources can make to the success and productivity of organizations. Those organizational conditions that promote motivation, creativity, and competency as well as health and well-being need to be identified, as does the central role of human resources in strategic organizational planning. An international exchange of scientific and practical experience will help organizations to increase their potential for creativity and productivity. Such an exchange will also benefit individuals, whose personal resources, health, and occupational skills can grow and develop in interaction with the organizational setting. Work and organizational psychology can provide the essential and necessary knowledge and competence required in this process, and we hope that you will agree that this is reflected in the congress program.

A scientific congress of this nature can also provide many opportunities for friends and colleagues to meet and interact outside of the scientific program. It has been a major ambition of the Organizing Committee to maximize the opportunities for social interaction during the congress.

The congress is organized under the auspices of the European Association of Work and Organizational Psychology (EAWOP) and hosted by the Swedish Psychological Association, in cooperation with the National Institute for Working Life and the Department of Psychology, Stockholm University. We are honored and proud to have been entrusted with the organization of this great event and delighted to welcome you to Stockholm, one of the most beautiful capitals in Europe. You will find that the city offers all of the interests of a big city, while still maintaining the coziness of a small town.

We, the organizers of the congress, welcome you warmly to an important scientific event in a friendly atmosphere of wonderful surroundings.

Välkommen!
Gunn Johansson
Congress President

CONGRESS ORGANIZATION

The Stockholm congress, entitled Sustainable Work: Promoting Human and Organizational Vitality, is the thirteenth in a series of congresses on work and organizational psychology initiated by the European Association of Work and Organizational Psychology (EAWOP). Previous European congresses on work and organizational psychology have been held in the Netherlands (1983), Germany (1985), Belgium (1987), England (1989), France (1991), Spain (1993), Hungary (1995), Italy (1997), Finland (1999), the Czech Republic (2001), Portugal (2003), and Turkey (2005).

The XIIIth European Congress of Work and Organizational Psychology is organized by the Swedish Psychological Association, in cooperation with the National Institute for Working Life and the Department of Psychology, Stockholm University

PRE-CONGRESS WORKSHOPS

Wednesday, May 9

Workshop 1: 09:00 -12:00

Room K13

"Measuring and Improving Organizational Productivity"

Robert Pritchard, University of Central Florida, USA

The workshop will focus on measuring and improving organizational productivity. The workshop leader will first give a brief overview of one technique, the Productivity Measurement and Enhancement System (ProMES). ProMES was designed by the workshop leader to be a practical method of measuring organizational productivity, and to use these productivity measures as feedback to help people improve their productivity. The goal was to make these improvements in such a way that everyone benefited, including the people doing the work. Workshop participants will be asked to have read one article describing ProMES which will be provided in advance by the workshop leader. This article explains the steps in doing ProMES and the results from using it in organizations around the world. These results indicate that 1) the system generally results in large increases in productivity which last over long periods of time, 2) it can be used in many different types of organizations with people at all levels of the organization, 3) the system is highly cost effective to use, and 4) attitudes and stress improve under the system. Reading this article in advance will allow the focus of the actual workshop on practical issues in doing the intervention. Specifically, the workshop will simulate the steps in doing ProMES using the workshop participants as members of the design team. The focus will be on the practical issues that a ProMES facilitator must deal with in actual projects. This information is based on over 20 years of using the technique. Potential participants can get more information about ProMES from: <http://www.psych.ucf.edu/promes/>, the ProMES web site.

Workshop 2: 09:00 – 12:00

Room K14

"I-DEALS: Idiosyncratic Deals Workers Bargain for Themselves challenges"

Denise Rousseau, Carnegie Mellon University, USA

I-DEALS: Idiosyncratic Deals Workers Bargain for Themselves challenges traditional notions that standardization is the only way to create workplace justice. Employees, especially those with valuable skills, can make their jobs, pay, perks and career opportunities different from their co-workers. These idiosyncratic arrangements can be a valuable source of flexibility and personal satisfaction—but can also create inequity and resentment among colleagues. How idiosyncrasy can be made fair, where differential treatment is acceptable to co-workers and beneficial to the employer, will be the focus of discussion in this workshop

Workshop 3: 09:00 – 12:00

Room K15

"Managing Job Stress, Burnout and Engagement"

Wilmar Schaufeli, Utrecht University, the Netherlands

The aim of the workshop is to increase participants' knowledge of job stress, burnout and work engagement, to make them aware of antecedents and consequences, and to help them identify and plan interventions to manage burnout and build engagement in organisations. More specifically, using an evidence-based model, four issues will be addressed:

- The work situation, including its demands and resources and their balance;
- Person factors, including the ways of coping with job stress;
- Situational factors, including life events and work-home interference;
- Burnout and engagement as negative and positive outcomes, respectively.

Each of these four issues will be illustrated with empirical results from recent investigations and participants are invited to identify factors in their own work situation that may contribute to their levels of job stress or - contrarily - to wellness at work. Also, levels of burnout and engagement of the participants are assessed using validated questionnaires. Finally, an overview is presented of interventions to prevent burnout and promote engagement in organizations.

Workshop 6: 13:00 – 16:00

Room K15

"Course in multilevel analysis for grouped and longitudinal data"

Joop Hox, Utrecht University, the Netherlands

Social research often concerns relationships between individuals and the social contexts to which they belong. Individuals and their social contexts can be conceptualized as a hierarchical structure, with individuals nested within groups. Classical examples are organizational research, with individuals nested within organizational units, and cross-national research, with individuals nested within their national units. Such systems can be observed at two levels, and as a result we have data with group level variables and individual level variables. To analyze such hierarchical structures, we need multilevel modeling, which allows us to study the relationships between variables observed at different levels in the hierarchical structure. Multilevel modeling can also be used to analyze data from longitudinal research, by viewing measurement occasions as being nested within respondents. This has several advantages compared to more classical approaches to longitudinal data.

This short course is intended as a basic and nontechnical introduction to multilevel analysis. It starts with a description of some examples, and shows why multilevel models are necessary if the data have a hierarchical structure. It then covers the basic theory of two- and three-level models. Next it explains how multilevel models can be applied to analyzing longitudinal data, and why and when this may be an attractive analysis approach, as compared to more classical analysis methods such as multivariate analysis of variance (Manova). Examples shall be given on how to conduct these analyses using the SPSS Mixed procedure, which is available in SPSS starting with version 11.5. The course assumes reasonable familiarity with analysis of variance and multiple regression analysis, but prior knowledge of multilevel modeling is not assumed.

The course is based on: J.J. Hox (2002). Multilevel Analysis. Techniques and Applications. Mahwah, NJ: Lawrence Erlbaum Associates. The course pack includes selected chapters from this text, a brief 'how to' guide to SPSS Mixed, and handouts from the PowerPoint slides.

INFORMATION FOR PARTICIPANTS

Name Badges

Name badges will be distributed at the Registration Desk and will give you access to all scientific sessions and the exhibition hall. The name badges are not transferable under any circumstances. Lost badges will be replaced at the Registration Desk for a fee of SEK 100. All participants are requested to wear the badge throughout the conference.

Business hours and shopping

Shops are generally open between 10:00 and 18:00 on weekdays and from 10:00 to 15:00 on Saturdays. Shops in the city center have extended opening hours, some even on Sundays between 12:00 and 16:00. The main shopping streets in the center of Stockholm are: Hamngatan, Biblioteksgatan, Drottninggatan, and Västerlånggatan in the Old Town.

Credit Cards

Commonly accepted cards in hotels, shops and at the registration desk are American Express, Diners Club, Visa, MasterCard and Eurocard.

Currency

The currency in Sweden is the Swedish Krona, SEK. The approximate exchange rates in April 2007 were:
SEK 100 = Euro 10.75
SEK 100 = USD 14.18
For up-to-date exchange rate information, visit Forex.

Dress

Informal dress is acceptable on all occasions.

Insurance

Neither the Congress Organizers nor the Congress Secretariat accept any liability for personal injuries sustained, or for loss or damage to property belonging to congress participants, either during or as a result of the congress. It is strongly recommended that you purchase the insurance policy of your choice as you register for the congress and book your travel. The insurance should be purchased in your country of origin.

Meals & Refreshments

Lunch and refreshments are included in the registration fee. A lunch buffet will be served at Victoria Hall on Thursday 12:20–14:50 and on Friday 11:40–14:10. Morning and afternoon coffee will also be served at Victoria Hall during the breaks stated in the program overview.

Press

All journalists are required to register in the Press Room. Press credentials will be required. The Press Center is located on the first floor. Only accredited journalists will be allowed into this area.

Transportation in Stockholm

A congress card is included in the registration fee for participants and accompanying persons. This card is valid on buses, subways, and commuter trains in Stockholm and much of its surrounding areas. It is not valid for transportation to and from the airport. The subway stations are marked with the letter T.

SOCIAL PROGRAM FOR DELEGATES AND ACCOMPANYING PERSONS

Evening Activities

Wednesday, May 9 at 17:00

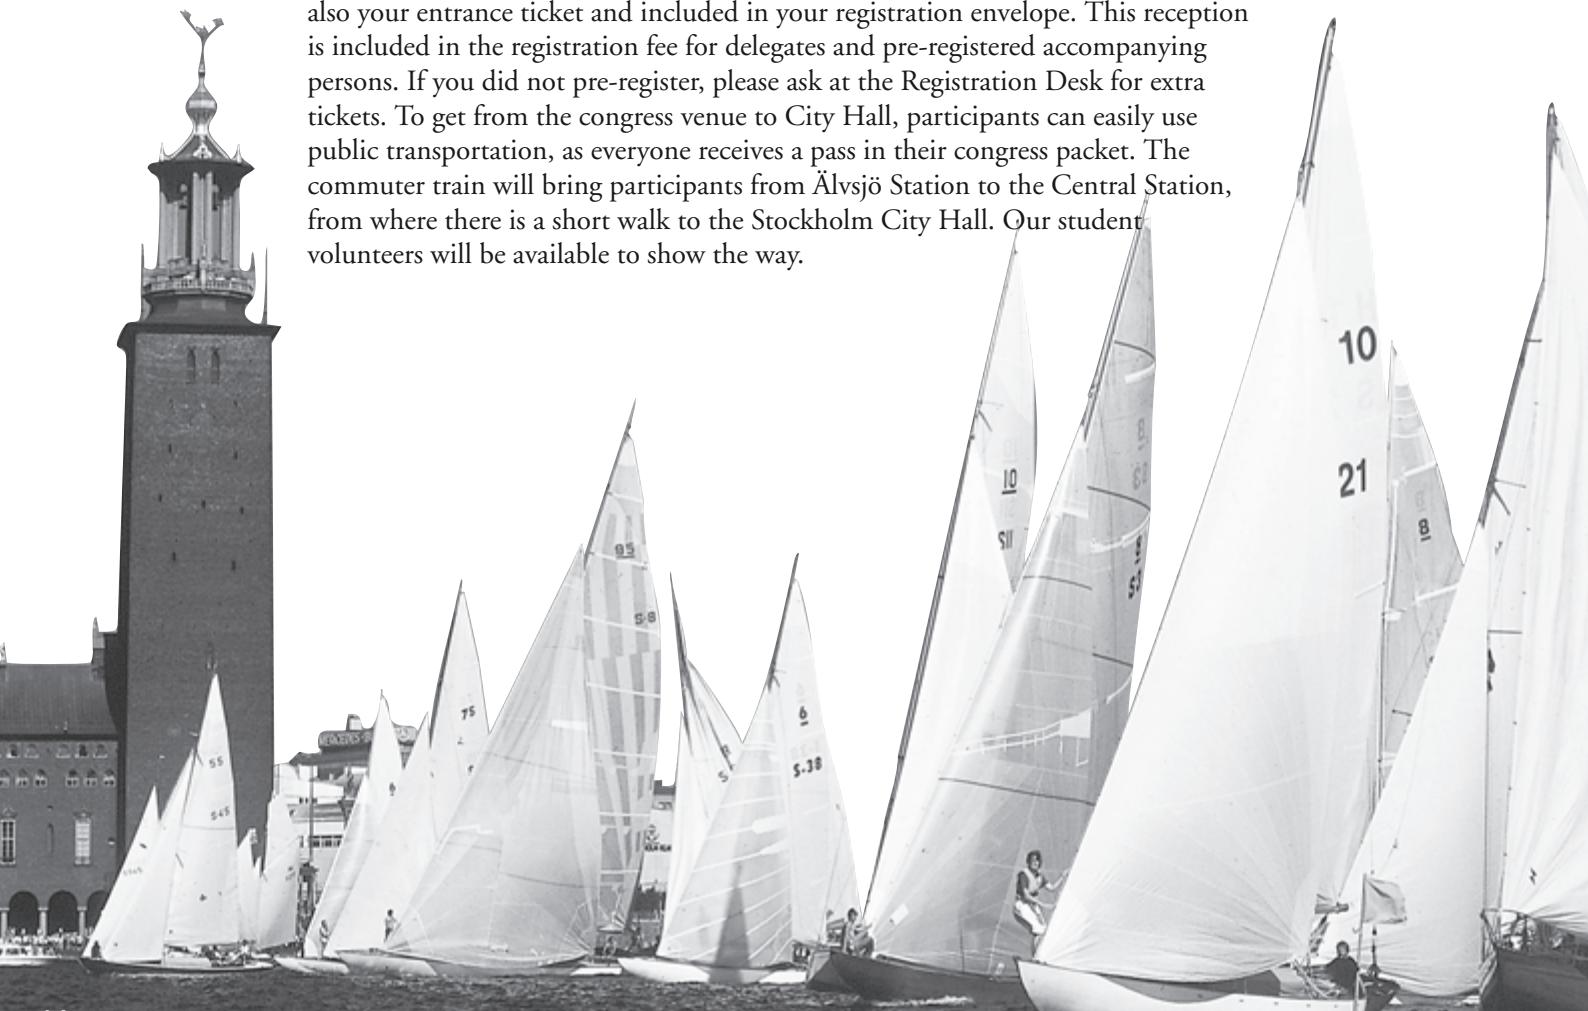

Opening Ceremony and Welcome Reception

Come join us for the Opening Ceremony followed by the Welcome Reception at Victoria Hall where light food and beverages will be served. Admission is free for registered participants and registered accompanying persons.

Thursday, May 10 at 19:15

City Hall Reception

The City of Stockholm and the Stockholm County Council invite you to a standing buffet dinner at the Stockholm City Hall, which is beautifully situated on the waterfront of Riddarfjärden in central Stockholm. The City Hall is world famous as the setting of the annual Nobel Banquet. Be sure to bring your invitation card, which is also your entrance ticket and included in your registration envelope. This reception is included in the registration fee for delegates and pre-registered accompanying persons. If you did not pre-register, please ask at the Registration Desk for extra tickets. To get from the congress venue to City Hall, participants can easily use public transportation, as everyone receives a pass in their congress packet. The commuter train will bring participants from Älvsjö Station to the Central Station, from where there is a short walk to the Stockholm City Hall. Our student volunteers will be available to show the way.

Friday, May 11 at 19:30

Congress Dinner

The congress dinner will be held at restaurant Solliden at Skansen. It will be a festive opportunity for all participants to meet and socialize. Skansen – across the water on the island of Djurgården – was founded in 1891 and is the world's oldest open-air museum. Price: SEK 750 for registered participants and accompanying persons

Daytime Activities: Tours

Tickets to all tours can, as far as availability permits, be bought at the Registration Desk

Thursday, May 10, Friday, May 11, Saturday, May 12 at 09:30

Visit to Svenskt Tenn

- Design Store and Exhibition

Svenskt Tenn, Strandvägen 5, is one of the leading interior design stores in Stockholm. The store specializes in furniture and fabrics with patterns created by the world-famous designer Josef Frank. In connection with the Congress, the store is inviting participants and accompanying persons to an exclusive presentation with products exhibited in the store. Due to limited space, the maximum number of persons is 20. Refreshments are included. The visit is offered on three occasions, starting each day at 9:30. Those interested are asked to sign up one day in advance at the registration desk.

Price per person: SEK 60

Thursday, May 10 at 9:30

City Tour (2 hours)

The best way of getting to know Stockholm in a short space of time is via a sightseeing bus tour. While viewing memorable buildings, museums, and parks and hearing about their history, your guide will also give you advice on shopping, good restaurants, and entertainment. The tour starts and ends at the congress venue in Älvsjö. This tour is included in the fee for Accompanying persons.

Price per person: SEK 300

Friday, May 11 at 9:30

Old Town Walkabout - (2 hours)

The island on which Gamla Stan (Old Town) is situated is the original heart of the age-old city of Stockholm and subsequently the oldest and most historical area of the city. Its medieval character remains intact. Throughout the walk, your guide will also relate old stories and legends of Old Town while showing you the charming small coffee shops cleverly built into the old cellar vaults, along with the antique shops and art galleries. The tour starts at the conference venue in Älvsjö and concludes in Old Town. This is included in the fee for Accompanying persons.

Price per person: SEK 260

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PRESENTERS

Oral Presentations (Thematic sessions and Symposia)

Time

The oral presentation sessions will consist of 3 to 5 papers per session (1-1.5 hours long). Each presenter will be allocated about 15 minutes for their presentation, including questions. The presentation should take a maximum of 12 minutes, thus allowing around 3 minutes for questions. It is very important that presenters do not take more time than what is allowed. To help the presenter keep track of time, the Chair of the session will show note cards marked "5 minutes," "1 minute," and "Please finish!" The session Chair will not allow questions after 15 minutes have passed for each presentation.

Technology

We recommend that presenters use the PowerPoint projector to show any slides with their presentation. There will be a PowerPoint projector and a computer with an internet connection available in each room. Bring your electronic files on a CD/DVD or USB memory stick. If you prefer to use plastic slides, a traditional overhead projector will also be available in each room.

Speaker-Ready Room

The congress will have a "Speaker-Ready Room" available, with both PC and Mac computers, where presenters will be able to preview their presentations. Presentations on CD/DVD or USB memory stick may be left here with our staff, either the day before or on the morning of the presentation, who will ensure that they are delivered to the appropriate rooms in time for the presentations. The opening hours of this room are 08:00-18:00 Wednesday-Friday, and 8:00-15:00 on Saturday.

Presentation Time

Make sure that your presentation is functioning and available in time for your presentation. If you do not choose to leave your presentation with our staff in the Speaker-Ready Room, you will need to come about 10 minutes early to your session to set it up. Bring your presentation on a CD/DVD or USB memory stick if you are using PowerPoint. Our staff will also be available to help if needed. It is advised that all presenters check the functioning of their presentations at some point before they begin. After presenting, we ask that presenters take all of their material with them, and that any materials that may have been left in the Speaker-Ready Room are collected.

When presenting:

- Show interest in your own presentation!
- Make sure the audience can see you – stand where there is light, and turn towards your audience when speaking.
- Allow time for the audience to review your slides if they are complicated - do not rush through models or large tables. Explain arrows in complicated models.
- Respect the time limit. You will have about 12 minutes to present, and then 3 minutes for questions. If questions remain after the time is up, suggest that you discuss these after the session. Do not intrude on others' time slots.
- Respect the Chair of the session. They are instructed to ensure that the time is kept and will hold presenters to this. If you take more time than allowed, the Chair is instructed to ask you to conclude in order for other presenters to have enough time.

Poster Presentations

Poster presentations are an important aspect of the congress program. Each day approximately 150-200 posters will be displayed in the congress hall. The audience will circulate among the posters, which are grouped together in thematic sessions. This informal type of presentation provides opportunities for the audience and participants to interact. Poster presentations provide a forum for discussion and the exchange of ideas that is not always possible in oral sessions.

The posters are to remain up during the entire day they are scheduled, and presenters are asked to make themselves available for questions during the refreshment and lunch breaks. The posters should be mounted in the morning before the program starts and all presenters are expected to mount their posters in time. There will be volunteers on hand to assist, and pins will be available for mounting the posters.

Session Chair

The Chair of a session has the essential task of making sure that the session runs smoothly. This entails more than just keeping time, although this is an important aspect of being a Chair. The Chair is charged with making sure that the presenters feel welcome and that all technical issues are resolved. The Chair of the Thematic sessions will typically be assisted by a Co-chair, who assumes the chair duties if the ordinary Chair is unable to make it, or during the presentation of the ordinary Chair.

Time

Since time is limited, it must be watched, and all scheduled presenters should have the same opportunity to present their material. Presentations that run long not only interfere with other presentations in the same session, but may also cause delays in other sessions, or prevent the audience from moving on to following sessions in a timely manner. Each presenter has 12 minutes for their presentation and 3 minutes for questions. The Chair should not allow a speaker to receive questions after the full 15 minutes for the presentation are up. However, the Chair can suggest that any further questions be addressed after all speakers have concluded, in the interest of time.

In order for the Chair to communicate the time remaining in a non-obtrusive way, note cards marked "5 minutes," "1 minute," and "Please finish!" will be provided for all session Chairs (available in the room of the session). Make sure the presenter acknowledges these warnings. It may be a good idea to sit in the front row, facing the presenter during the presentation. Do not hesitate to ask someone to conclude if they ignore the final note card. Please inform the presenters about these procedures before the session begins.

The following lists a few additional things to keep in mind, and hints on how to make the session enjoyable for audience and presenters.

Before the session:

- Make sure you know which session you are to chair; check for any scheduling clashes with any other commitments and notify the Program Committee if you cannot serve as session chair.
- At the conference, arrive at the room of the session at least 10 minutes prior to the start of the session.
- Check the technology and alert any of the technicians or student volunteers of any problems.
- Greet the speakers and make sure that everyone scheduled to speak is present, and that all presentations have been loaded on to the computer (including your own if you are to present in the session).
- Explain your role to the presenters, so they know to look at you for cues.

During the session:

- Introduce yourself to the audience and give a brief introduction of the speakers and the overall topic.
- Explain the time allocation – each presenter has 12 minutes to present, and 3 minutes for questions. Explain also that after 15 minutes have passed the next presenter will be introduced.
- Introduce the first presenter.
- Place yourself so that the presenter can see you without any trouble.
- Be ready to assist with any technical problems.
- Make sure the presenter adheres to the time limit.
- After the presentation, ask if there are any questions, and make sure the questions do not cause the presentation to be too long. If questions remain after the time is up, suggest that the discussion resume after the session. Make sure more than one person gets to ask questions if they want to.

After the session:

- If there is time left, suggest a discussion of topics relevant to the presentations.
- Thank the presenters and the audience for their attention and conclude the session.

Panel Debate

The Panel debates or discussions are designed to spark a discussion among experts in a certain field, who may or may not agree on the issues. The chairperson or discussant plays an important role as moderator, asking the panelists questions and making sure that all involved get an opportunity to speak.

The Panel debates may take on different forms. One way is for each panelist to first give a short presentation of their standpoint before the start of discussion. This may be a good way to introduce the audience to the topic, and clarify how the panelists differ or agree with each other. It is important that all panelists are prepared in advance.

Roundtable Discussion

In these interactive sessions, researchers and/or practitioners will have the opportunity to more freely discuss a specific subject. This is the most open presentation form, and provides an opportunity for dialogue among conference participants, without prepared formal presentations. A Roundtable may, for instance, consist of practical demonstrations, intervention methods, or open discussions on an urgent issue.

To achieve this, the facilitator of the Roundtable discussion is asked to prepare a short introduction to the topic along with some questions or issues for stimulating discussion. The facilitator might also choose to invite experts on the topic of discussion, or colleagues working with similar issues. The Roundtable discussion is a highly interactive presentation type.

The Roundtable sessions are organized differently from the other sessions. Typically, the audience is placed in a circle to facilitate discussion and interaction between all members of the audience. The congress has arranged for a particular room to be set up for this purpose. This room will also accommodate the use of visual aids, if desired.

HOW TO READ THE SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM

The Scientific Program is arranged chronologically by hour and day of the week. It proceeds from the first session of the week and ends with the last session of the week.

FARAX 360 - a powerful tool

At FaraxGroup we have extensive competence and experience in designing and implementing leadership programs where FARAX 360 assessment is a part. We utilise our research based knowledge in order to make reality of leadership strategies.

Our customers' experience is that the FARAX is a powerful process-facilitating tool.

I would like to invite you to cooperation concerning research and application of the Farax method. Please, contact me to discuss your ideas on that issue.
