Welcome note from the congress organizers

Dear Colleagues and Friends!

Welcome to the 16th Congress of the European Association of Work and Organizational Psychology (EAWOP). The EAWOP Congress 2013 is hosted in and around the historic Münster Palace, and is organized by the two German EAWOP constituents (Section Work, Organizational, and Business Psychology of the German Psychological Society; Section Business Psychology of the Berufsverband Deutscher Psychologinnen und Psychologen e.V.) who have formed a local organizing committee together with the University of Münster.

The bi-annual EAWOP Congress has a long and successful history that started in 1983 when work and organizational psychology became professionalized. Today, the EAWOP congress is one of the largest international conferences of work and organizational psychologists worldwide, and the largest in Europe. For the current congress we have received more than 1.700 abstract submissions from over 50 different countries. All submissions were subject to a double-blind review process supported by more than 100 international reviewers (this voluntary help is kindly acknowledged by a small "R" at the congress name tags). In addition, numerous invited sessions with internationally renowned keynote speakers as well as invited symposia, invited debates, and panel discussions supplement a fantastic program. This congress particularly supports the interaction between scientists and practitioners as a central part of EAWOP's general mission, featuring an invited practitioner keynote, a practitioner field trip, interactive practitioner-scientists debates, and many more. For better orientation, contributions that include a practitioner perspective are flagged with ^(PP) in the program booklet. Moreover, Best Paper, Best Poster, and Best Practitioner Contribution Awards acknowledge the high quality submissions to the EAWOP Congress 2013. The abstracts of all contributions to the congress are available as edited online publication with a permanent Internet address.

The theme of the EAWOP Congress 2013 "Imagine the future world: How do we want to work tomorrow?" particularly focuses on new challenges that we experience in work organizations today and tomorrow, such as globalization and digitalization of economic processes, flexible work with remote partners, demographic changes, financial turbulences, and growing climatic problems. Providing new and innovative ideas on mastering these challenges, this congress is not only a stimulating event for the community of work and organizational psychologists, but also offers new ideas and concepts for decision makers in related disciplines, consultancies, and politics. (Challenging your creativity, the cover of this program booklet illustrates the general theme of the congress, picturing a workplace that can be designed individually – you will find coloring pens in your congress bag!)

Finally, the congress program provides many opportunities for socializing (e.g., during the congress dinner), networking, or simply for having a good time. The city of Münster is a unique and beautiful background for this, having a long history of influential meetings for the European history. For instance, in 1648, the Peace of Westphalia ended one of the most destructive European conflicts (the "Thirty Years' War") in Münster. While this history is still present in the ancient buildings and places throughout the city of Münster, modern architecture is integrated elegantly, demonstrating a successful blending of old and new elements that nicely reflects the general idea of the congress theme. Moreover, as the "capital city of bicycles" and Germany's Climate Protection Capital, the city of Münster is an internationally well-known model for environmental protection. Thus, in addition to an exciting congress, Münster offers a beautiful and interesting place to visit and to explore.

The organization of a congress of this size is always an adventure, and cannot be realized without manifold help and support from many people. We are very thankful for all the work of the members of the EAWOP Executive Committee, the EAWOP 2013 Program and Organizing Committees, and the reviewers of the congress submissions. Also, we like to thank the University of Münster for providing such a great location for the EAWOP Congress 2013. We thank the great staff of Münster Marketing and the City of Münster who supported and helped us coordinating this congress with issues of a vivid and growing city. Furthermore, many thanks to the teams of the local Congress Office and the Registration Office (CSM) who solved tirelessly and enthusiastically myriads of small and larger problems on the way. Moreover, many thanks to the sponsors and partners of this congress for their support (see list of sponsors and partners below in this booklet), and many thanks to the student support staff for their help during the congress. Last but not least, a large thank you goes to Wiebke Muth for designing this program booklet. The stage is set - we are looking forward to meeting you in Münster!

Guido Hertel & Heinz Holling
on behalf of the congress organizers

Welcome note from the president of EAWOP

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

It is my pleasure to welcome you at the 16th congress of the European Association of Work and Organizational Psychology. The bi-annual EAWOP congress is one of the largest international conferences of work and organizational psychologists worldwide, and the place to be for those who want to inform and be informed about the latest developments in the world of work. The theme of this congress, "Imagine the future world: How do we want to work tomorrow?" has attracted a wide variety of topics, including the digitalization of work, new ways of working, new issues in work-related health and well-being, the impact of the financial crisis, employee job crafting, and new developments in personnel selection.

The EAWOP Executive Committee has organized several events to further facilitate scientific and social exchange, including a reception for young researchers in Work and Organizational Psychology who want to attend the 4th EAWOP Summer School (Lisbon, 2014), a reception for practitioners who attended the 1st WorkLab in Helsinki and for those interested in the next WorkLab meetings (2013 and 2014), a meeting with the Editor of the European Journal of Work and Organizational Psychology, a roundtable regarding the Specialized Certificate in Work and Organizational Psychology, and a session about the Future of EAWOP with the past and incoming Presidents of EAWOP.

The organizers of the 16th EAWOP conference have provided an inspiring arena for sharing, discussing, and creating new ideas and initiatives for work organizations to enhance employee health and work engagement as well as organizational effectiveness.

Discussing how we want to work tomorrow elucidates our active role in the creation and crafting of future work conditions – a very important role. I would like to thank the two German EAWOP constituents, the Local Organizing Committee in Munster, the Program Committee as well as the EAWOP Executive Committee for their dedication and tireless hard work behind the scenes to make this conference a success.

After serving a 4-year term as President this will be my last message to you, as we look forward to welcoming the new President and Executive Committee during the General Assembly on 23 April. I hope full members and constituents will be able to join fellow EAWOP members in electing the new Executive Committee at the General Assembly. On behalf of the Executive Committee, thank you for your continued support. Enjoy the conference and I hope to see you at one of our EAWOP events! Kind regards,

Arnold Bakker
EAWOP President

Welcome note from the Rector of the University Münster, Prof. Dr. Ursula Nelles

Dear Participants, on behalf of the rectorate of the University of Münster, I warmly welcome EAWOP's decision to hold this year's congress at our university.

As a rector, I affirm you of the importance, the University of Münster attaches to the international conferences like this. The WWU sees its mission in initiation und promotion of high-quality research in fields distinguished by a strong track record, in offering suitable facilities for curricular doctoral training and the advancement of young scientists, and in providing the basis for the development of excellence in research and doctoral education by supporting a broad research base.

WWU's research profile is marked by a considerable number of research focal points of proven excellence – in the humanities (including the theological faculties) law, business administration, natural sciences, mathematics, life-sciences and medicine. The WWU uses its capabilities to the full, profiting from its multifaceted research profile by developing new internal, interdisciplinary collaborations made necessary by new challenges which arise.

Professionally, I also attach great expectations on your congress theme "Imagine the future world: How do we want to work tomorrow?" Your interdisciplinary approach to your theme suits perfectly to the scientific culture of a vast variety of grown interdisciplinary cooperations. Additionally, your work is able to inspire our rectorate and our administration to develop according to your latest results.

The University of Münster is delighted and proud to be your host this year. I hope you will benefit from the meeting and gain new hints and insights for your own studies. Perhaps this short stay will give you a positive impression of the university – and the City of Münster as well.
Enjoy the congress and also our beautiful city.

Prof. Dr. Ursula Nelles

Welcome note from the German Federal Minister of Labour and Social Affairs Dr. Ursula von der Leyen

Demographics have ceased being a minor issue for only a few experts. Instead it has become a major force driving massive change in personnel management and corporate culture. With many older workers retiring and comparatively few younger people starting work many companies already face great difficulties in finding enough highly skilled employees. Therefore, we have to enable every skilled employee at hand to release his or her full potential.

Since the workforce is ageing workplaces have to be age-appropriate. Life-long education and training will help older people to keep track. Many women still face considerable problems in reconciling family and work. Thus, work-family balance stays a key issue for both women and men.

And companies have to make sure that they provide motivating and healthy working conditions. It is a company's key interest that every employee enjoys work and that he or she stays in the job as long as possible. On the other hand, a persistent high stress level at work can be responsible for mental disorders, ranging from extreme fatigue to major depression. First, we need to identify and analyze the sources of excessive stress in order to minimize its effects. Second, it is crucial to invest in resources known to help people cope with stress and change: e.g. control and decision latitude, a balanced mix of routine tasks and new tasks, the full support by management, and a good team spirit.

We want to create a world of work where it is not people who have to adapt to work but where work is adapted to people. Here, academia and science can provide valuable input and support. The Congress is a good forum for sharing knowledge and experience and for learning from each other. I wish you fruitful and inspiring discussions.

Dr. Ursula von der Leyen

Theme of the 16th EAWOP Congress 2013

We live in a time of radical and rapid changes that tremendously affect the way we work and the way we live. Globalization of economic processes, digitalization and the increasing overlap between business and social networks, flexible work with remote partners, demographic changes, financial turbulences and growing climatic problems are just a few examples of the dramatic developments we experience today. Apart from challenges and strains for individual workers and work organizations, these dynamics also provide opportunities for changes for the good, for improvements and creative advancement. However, in order to realize these opportunities we not only need sound knowledge of these dynamics and underlying processes, but also fantasy, creativity, and courage to implement new solutions.

The organizers of the 16th EAWOP conference want to provide an inspiring arena for sharing, discussing, and creating new ideas and future trends for work organizations to enhance both organizational effectiveness as well as growth and health of the working people. In doing so, we – as work and organizational psychologists – not only react to external influences, such as technological advancement, political decisions, or economic rationales. Discussing how we want to work tomorrow stresses our active role in the creation and crafting of future work conditions.

Human needs and cognitions are an important starting point for technical engineering both at the

future world:
How do we want to

level of single tasks as well as at the level of workflow design in organization. Transparency and fairness concerns are central aspects for strategic activities of managers, union officials and governmental decision makers alike. Affect, work-related values, and concerns for others are not examples for deniable exceptions or irrationality but important elements in a comprehensive modeling of economic processes.

Therefore, we like to invite scientists and practitioners of work and organizational psychology – as well as from related fields – to join the 16th congress of the EAWOP and to imagine, share, and discuss innovative and sustainable solutions to the manifold challenges we experience today, striving for a future world in which all of us enjoy working and living together.

Social Activities

Important notes:

Meeting points and times: Please arrive at the meeting point mentioned below 20 minutes before a social activity starts. A student assistant will meet you at the meeting point and accompany you to the respective social activity. As an example, if you have booked the guided tour of the old town on Thursday, 23/May, 9:30am, please arrive at the information desk at the Fürstenberghaus at 9:10am. When the group for the tour is gathered, our student assistant will guide you to the starting point of the tour. Detailed meeting points and times for all social activities are provided below.

On-site registration: If you would like to participate in a social activity which you have not booked yet, you are able to enjoy an on-site registration. Please notify our colleagues at the information desk in the Palace if you would like to take this opportunity. We would be happy to try our best to enable you to participate spontaneously in our social activities. This service is only available as long as a social activity is not fully booked. Please note that it will not be possible to join a social activity without consulting our colleagues at the information desk in the Palace.

We wish you pleasant social activities and hope that you enjoy the beautiful city of Münster!

Guided Tour of the Old Town Including a Visit of the Hall of Peace

European history was written at the Hall of Peace at the historic Town Hall in 1648 when the Westphalian Peace Treaty was signed. In this tour, you are welcomed to visit this unique 14th century hall. Furthermore, this option includes an interesting guided tour of the old town. You are able to enjoy, for instance, St. Paul's Cathedral or the Lambertikirche.

Meeting point:

Further Activities in Münster

Münster offers numerous options for activities and sights like the Picasso Museum, St. Paul's Cathedral or many green areas and gastronomic delights. In the shade of the 1200 year old cathedral, you will find the famous farmer's market, which will stun you with its wide variety of foods and flowers. If you have time, come here for a stroll, buy a cheese bag and have some lentil soup or Tarte Flambee for lunch (Wednesday & Saturday, 7:00am to 2:30pm).

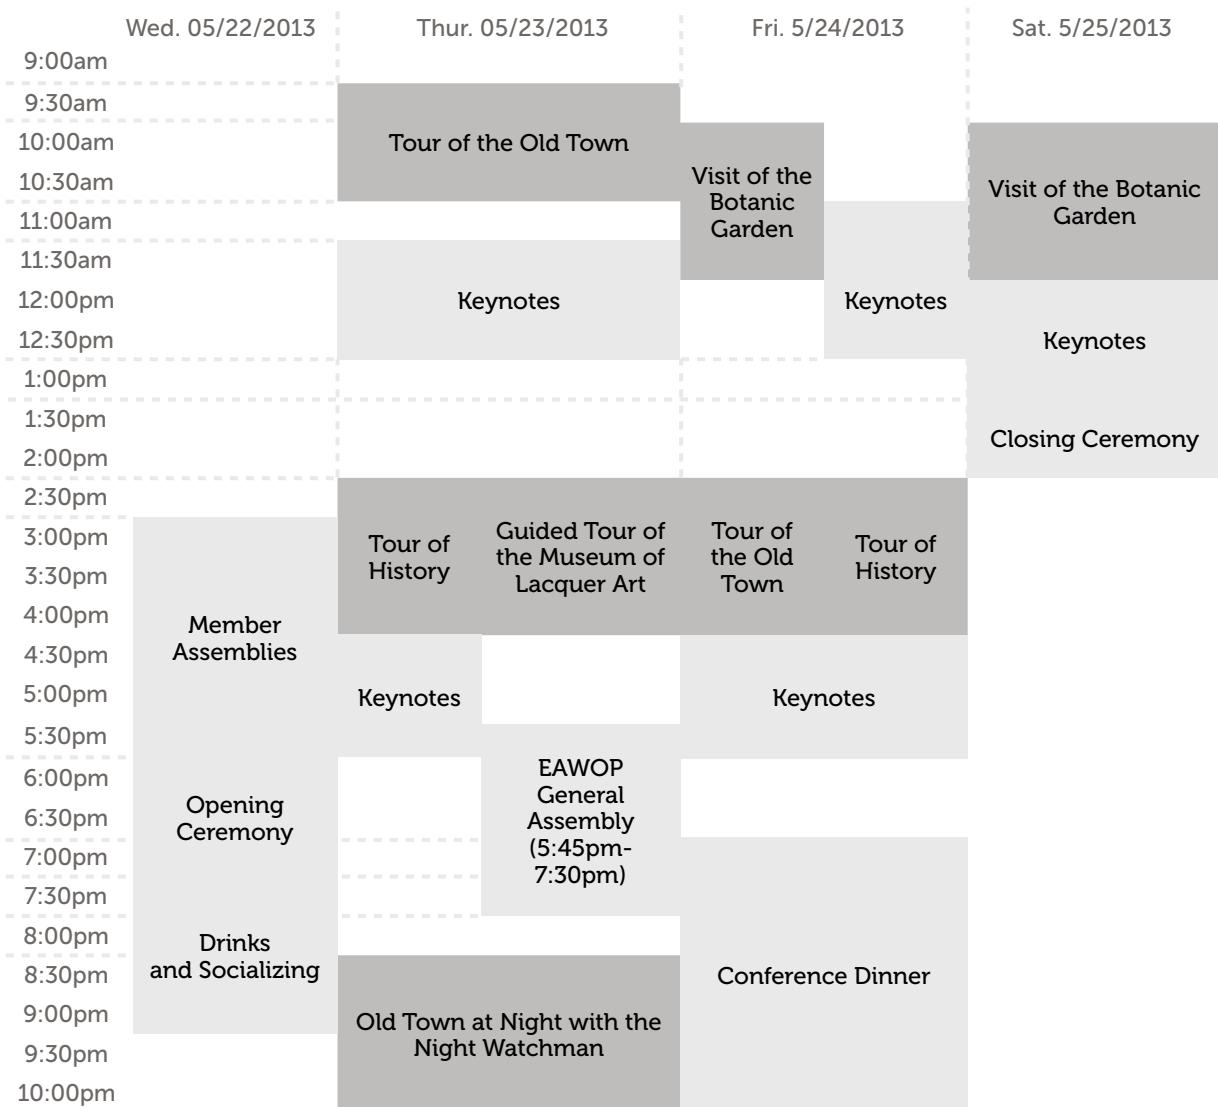

Always a worthy visit is also our famous All-Weather Zoo. It is said that in Münster, it either rains or the churchbells are ringing. But do not worry, the zoo is roof-covered and you will stay dry in any weather.

You can find further information on www.eawop2013.org/general-information/social-activities and www.tourismus.muenster.de, or feel free to ask our staff.

Wining and Dining

As a university town, Münster offers a lot of pubs, restaurants, bars and nightclubs. For a traditional Münster experience, we recommend having a local beer at the Pinkus Müller brewery and mingling with the students at one of the many quirky pubs at Kreuzstraße, or enjoying a nice dinner at the waterfront of the harbour.

For a quick snack or a steaming cup of coffee near the congress locations, we recommend the delicious home-made cakes at Café Malik (Schlossplatz 20) or the tasty vegan and vegetarian sandwich variety at "Der kleine Bäcker" (the little bakery), both located right next to the H-building.

Practitioner Sessions

This congress constitutes an ideal platform for stimulating mutual understanding between practitioners and scientists in the field of Work and Organizational Psychology. Both can benefit from either side's latest findings and place their relevant topics. Many sessions are included in the program that explicitly address the practitioners' perspective – these contributions are flagged in the program with ^(PP).

Furthermore, the EAWOP 2013 Congress offers new and interactive sessions to inspire both practitioners and scientists, and may facilitate future cooperation – for example:

» Invited Practitioner Keynote featuring Angela Titzrath on "Current Trends and Best Practices at Deutsche Post DHL"

» Invited Practitioner-Scientist Debate on Innovations in Organizations, featuring Prof. Dr. Tom Sommerlatte (CEO Osiris MIC GmbH; Chairman of the Advisory Board of Arthur D. Little GmbH) and Prof. Dr. Michael Frese (National University of Singapore and Leuphana University of Lueneburg), chaired by Prof. Dr. Wolfgang Scholl (Humboldt University Berlin)

» Marketplace Europe: A European mosaic presented with Pecha Kucha: A kind of meta presentation, best practice overview and trend valuation from different European countries. A very dynamic presentation about current practice trends, projects, best practice insights and personal trend evaluation rather than detailed reporting. The speakers from different European countries report specific projects or evaluate their market for work and organizational psychologist in general and pointing out upcoming topics.

» Dialogue of scientists and practitioners about Coaching: Companies report on their coaching processes, successes and experiences, as well as particular cases with their challenges and obstacles. How important are scientifically grounded concepts, empirical findings and the evaluation for the coaching process? What are the characteristics of coaching courses specifically designed for psychologists (instructors perspective) and what are the motives of the trainees (future coaches perspective)?

» Field trip to BASF Coatings – reddot design award winner 2012

» EAWOP award for the best practitioner contribution will be awarded for the first time at the EAWOP 2013 Congress.

The moment you see your future in a company where the world is at your fingertips.
This is the moment
we work for.

// FUTURE
MADE BY ZEISS

Who are we looking for?

Physicists (m/f)

In the business groups and central research division at Carl Zeiss a large number of physicists work on pioneering developments and push the boundaries of physics every day.

Scientists (m/f)

Whether you work as a biologist in the field of microscopy or a research scientist or developer in the central research division, Carl Zeiss offers you possibilities you have probably never even dreamed of.

Engineers (m/f)

Over 300 Carl Zeiss patents a year: the extensive development and broad portfolio of high-tech products ensure that engineers are constantly faced with exciting, new challenges in their work.

Industrial engineers (m/f)

Anyone who feels equally at home in the fields of business and technology will enjoy the fascinating, future-oriented perspectives we offer in marketing, sales, service etc.

Economists (m/f)

In your role of an economist at Carl Zeiss, you will work for a successful global player and experience a degree of respect and appreciation that say much more about the company than any figures.

Information engineers (m/f)

Carl Zeiss offers exciting challenges for IT experts in the field of software development. However, IT is also one of the strategic foundations of the global success of Carl Zeiss.

As a leading player in the fields of optics and optoelectronics, Carl Zeiss and its various business groups offer numerous exciting challenges for you. At Carl Zeiss you will help create technologically pioneering products and witness for yourself how seriously the company takes its responsibility toward its employees.

You can find current job vacancies and information about Carl Zeiss as an employer on our website: www.zeiss.de/career
